

A Patriot. A Problem-Solver. A Proven Leader.

A U.S. Army veteran, lifelong technologist, and respected voice in Nebraska's agricultural and veteran communities, Jon offers the kind of principled, proven leadership District 38 needs. While others are chasing headlines or parroting consultant-approved cookie cutter soundbites, Jon is focused on what matters: strengthening our rural economy, protecting constitutional freedoms, and preparing the next generation to thrive.

Jon brings over 30 years of private-sector leadership—including complex systems development for Fortune 500 companies, public agencies, and household American institutions. As a former CTO and IT systems architect, Jon has built and secured platforms for names like Microsoft, IBM, ExxonMobil, JP Morgan Chase, and Texas Instruments. He understands how to make government smarter, faster, and more accountable—because he's done it in the real world.

He's a patriot, not a politician. A problem-solver—someone who's worked with both his hands and his mind. A published author and teacher in the tech space, Jon knows what it takes to deliver results and steward taxpayer dollars with discipline and transparency.

Jon and his wife Lori live in Blue Hill, Nebraska, where they are active in their church and community. He serves as Commander of American Legion Post 176, is a certified NRA Range Safety Officer, Vice Chairman of the Webster County Republican Party, and is a proud member of the Nebraska Farm Bureau, Nebraska Cattlemen, and National Cattlemen's Beef Association.

From broadband and biofuels to wastewater treatment and land ownership, Jon understands the issues that matter because he's lived them—and helped solve them.
